LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom It May Concern

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine, and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful as well as perfect fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property.

Respectfully

To Whom It May Concern

This is to certify that I George A. Burbank witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day and I have witnessed a test in Any such chemical tests in New York City Boston Mass. and other large cities in the East I beg to state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was put entirely to me and I did it with the word and until the fire was well started and water would answer just a well as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred and I take great pleasure in recommending the Lindgren as far superior to any other Chemical engine on the market.

RAILWAY DISASTERS.

Two Passenger Trains Collide Not Far From Omaha.

ABOUT FIFTY PERSONS INJURED

Fatal Accident on the Midland Railroad.

TRAIN DEMOLISHED AT BRUSSELS

And Thirty Persons Injured—The Brakes Failed to Work—Cause of the Recent Horror at Cincinnati.

OMAHA, Oct. 16.—A wreck occurred on the Burlington & Missouri at Gibson, a few miles from Omaha, last evening. About fifty passengers were injured. Two engines were completely demolished and a chair car and combination car were thrown from the track and reduced to atoms.

Train No. 6, local, between Lincoln and Chicago, ran into No. 9. The former was east and the latter westbound.

Gibson is the meeting point, and the place where the crew on No. 9, which is the train that makes connections with the Kansas City express, stops to register. Both trains are due at Gibson at 6:35 P. M., but last night No. 9 was slightly behind time. When the accident occurred the latter had just crossed the spur and the engine on No. 6 struck the former, hurling both engines and two coaches from the track. The combination coach and chair car were both crowded with passengers, all of whom were more or less injured, while Peter Kenland, proprietor of the Tremont house, died shortly after being taken to the hospital. The chair car, after being overturned, caught fire, and many of the passengers were burned in addition to their other injuries.

Among the injured are Engineer Gilspie, of Plattsmouth, badly bruised. H. J. Willie of Omaha, badly cut and bruised. Mary House, of Omaha, had contusion of the skull and badly bruised about the hips, will probably die. Charles Loure, ear cut off, face severely cut and body and lower limbs badly bruised. He lies in the hospital in an almost helpless condition.

The following injured are at the hotels: E. Mexer, of New York, shoulder dislocated and lower limbs badly bruised. France Elder, of New York, bruised and though to have received internal injuries. Fred Schultz of New York slightly cut about the head. J. Falkenberg, of Chicago, lower limbs bruised and shoulder dislocated. J. McConniff, of Oshkosh, slightly injured, his face being lacerated by the falling of a lamp. John W. French, of New York, face and legs bruised, injuries not serious. C. W. Rooks, of Hartford, Conn., injured about the body.

Of the train men, Conductor Loverin on No. 9, had his right leg badly broken and amputation may be necessary. Engineer McCoy, on No. 9, slightly bruised about the body. Two firemen, Hawkins and Martin, escaped with but slight injuries.

BACKED INTO A FREIGHT TRAIN.

Fatal Railway Accident Near Lebanon, Ind.

LEBANON, Ind., Oct. 16.—A construction train bearing section men, on the Midland railroad backed into a freight loaded three miles east of this place. Brakeman Moore was killed outright. Oliver Heath and John Fitch were fatally hurt, and several others seriously injured.

THE BRAKES DIDN'T WORK.

Thirty Persons Injured in a Railway Accident at Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 16.—An accident happened here to-day in the railway station. A passenger train from Mons running at full speed, approached the station. The brakes didn't work, and the train dashed into the station and against the buffers at the end of the track. A number of carriages were wrecked, and thirty persons injured.

PLUNGED INTO A WASHOUT.

A Freight Train Wrecked and Three Men Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—An Examiner special from El Paso, Tex., says: The Pacific freight train, which left El Paso last evening, was wrecked by plunging into a washout six miles beyond Fort Hancock. Engineer Robert Bible, Fireman Charles Johns and Brakeman G. W. Mansfield were killed.

THE CINCINNATI HORROR.

No Further Deaths Have Resulted From Yesterday's Accident.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—No further deaths have resulted from yesterday's accident. Miss Eskamp remains unconscious and will probably die. Mrs. Rochester is somewhat improved but is not out of danger. Young McFadden is in a fair way to recover.

THE CAUSE OF THE ACCIDENT.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—James M. Dougherty, secretary of the company operating the Mount Auburn inclined plane says the cause of yesterday's accident was a little piece of iron not more than an inch long that became lodged in the cut-off valve, and was found this morning by the men who had taken the machinery apart. How it came there no one yet knows.

THE RAILWAY BRAKEMEN.

Important Suggestions Made at Yesterday's Session of the Brotherhood.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 16.—The important features of this morning's session of the Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen were the officers' reports, which contained some important suggestions.

Vice Grand Master Slattery, of Butte, said he was in favor of changing the name of the order to "The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen" as at least one third of the membership was made up of conductors, baggagemen and others. Another of his recommendations was in regard to the different schemes that are just now being pushed forward by several of the leading railroads of this country, namely, the Philadelphia & Reading, Baltimore & Ohio and Burlington & Quincy. His advice to the members was for them to investigate all schemes of this kind carefully and be sure that they would arrive at the same conclusion, regarding it as he had, and that was to let them alone, as they were only snares to draw them on and make them slaves to their employers.

Grand Secretary and Treasurer O'Shea's report gave full statistics concerning the growth and state of the order.

The Crops Are an Entire Failure in Sections on Account of Drought.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 16.—H. Trow, formerly a member of the Minnesota legislature, but now a resident of Minor county, S. D., appeared at the state capitol to-day soliciting aid for the people of that county. Trow tells a sad tale of desolation and want in Minor and the adjoining counties and is accompanied by a petition signed by many families, asking that unless aid is granted many families must inevitably freeze or starve before next spring. The crops in Minor and a portion of Kingsbury and Lincoln counties were a complete failure on account of drought.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Lengthy Discussion of Committee Reports—Other Business.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—In the Episcopal convention to-day the reports of the special committee to which the memorial of the colored clergymen was referred were read, the majority and minority reports being presented.

Dr. Phillips Brooks who presented the minority report, said, in speaking of the church: "She knows nothing of the color of a man's skin."

The reports were made the special order for Friday.

The committee on constitutional amendments reported that they were of opinion that the general conventions have power to grant a presbyter or deacon the right of appeal. The recommendation of the committee for the insertion in article 6 of the words "including such court of appeals as such diocese may deem expedient" was placed on the calendar.

The house went into committee of the whole on the remaining report of the liturgical committee. The report put the word "proper" be inserted in the table of contents was carried. The motion that the word "antiquarian" be added to the appeals in the litany, that certain prayers be added for use during the reception and that Psalm 68 be replaced by Psalm 61 in the service for Good Friday, was considered in a number of other amendments were discussed at great length, but failed on the vote.

The house of bishops this afternoon non-concurred in the tentative use of the hymnal for the ensuing three years.

POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATIONS.

What Chauncey M. Depew Thinks of the Chances of Hill and Others.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 16.—Chauncey M. Depew was heard yesterday, and during his stay a number of questions about politics were asked him.

"How does Governor Hill stand in New York?"

"He is the ablest politician in New York. He is a man of remarkable ability."

"Who will be the democrats nominate for president in '92?"

"Grover Cleveland beyond doubt."

"Who will the republicans nominate?"

"That is hard to say. The man in the White house has the best chance for a nomination, all things being equal, but it is too far ahead to know."

"Who will be with Harrison? Blaine is shelved forever, is he not?"

"By no means. Blaine is not old enough to retire by a good deal."

"Does the prohibition party amount to anything?"

"No, it is going to pieces."

STEEL RAILWAY PRESIDENTS.

The Annual Convention Begun Yesterday at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 16.—The annual convention of steel railway presidents of the United States began to-day. The report of the executive committee severely scored the Knights of Labor.

Referring to the New York and Brooklyn street car strikes the report says: "The deathknell of the organization of the Knights of Labor has been sounded because it has shown its unworthiness to live by reason of the crimes committed in its name and under the direction of its leaders."

The report says further: "It is our earnest desire that there should be established in the street railway business such a community of interest between the employers and the employed that perfect harmony shall reign."

ENGINEERS' COUNCIL.

Opening of the Twenty-sixth Annual Convention at Denver.

THE CHIEF GREETED WITH CHEERS

The Grand Opera House Handsomely Decorated.

ARTHUR'S CONSERVATIVE SPEECH

The Present Time a Crisis in the Affairs of the Brotherhood—Kindly Admonitions—The Growth of the Order.

DENVER, Oct. 16.—The twenty-sixth annual convention of locomotive engineers was called to order at the Grand Opera house at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Secretary W. W. Hall, of the local committee of arrangements.

The house was most handsomely decorated with flowers and emblems of the brotherhood, the most beautiful of which was an immense design of roses, pinks and smilax, bordered with forget-me-nots, representing an engine and tender, which was placed in front of the speaker's desk.

The entrance of Chief Arthur, while the secretary was addressing the large audience, was greeted with prolonged applause.

The exercises were opened by prayer by George R. Dority, grand chaplain, of Charleston, Massachusetts.

At the conclusion of the supplication, "Sandy" McGuire, of Minneapolis, delivered an original poem which was received with applause lasting for several minutes.

This was followed by addresses from Major Loudoner, of Denver, L. W. Reynolds, of Iowa, J. K. Choate, superintendent of the Union Pacific system in Colorado, Charles F. Meek, general manager of the Denver, Texas & Fort Worth of Denver, Hon. John Scott, Rev. Myron Reed and H. B. Chamberlain, president of the Denver Chamber of Commerce.

At the conclusion of these addresses Chief Arthur was introduced amid great enthusiasm.

After welcoming the delegates and assuring them of his belief in the satisfactory results of the present convention, and with what great pleasure he had beheld the growth of the order since the organization, and the results it had attained, Chief Arthur said: "The present to me represents a turning point in the history of the order, for it has become apparent that a feeling essentially radical has crept in and taken possession of a few of our members. This is dangerous and must be suppressed so far as possible. Owing to this fact, seemingly contradictory rumors have crept out and become public, which could never have happened had there been a oneness of thought and an honesty of purpose. If a man's ability extends beyond that required by the Brotherhood, then it becomes his duty to doff the begrimed habiliments of the mechanic and assume that position for which he is particularly gifted. To nurse one's dissatisfaction and scatter its seeds broadcast, to take root in the imaginations of other men, is sinful and belittling character."

He admonished the members to keep their personality intact, and not to allow false gods to induce them to subscribe to laws which as soon as passed would make them cognizant of a necessity for a repeal.

He reiterated with emphasis his former statement that the organization should be law abiding, and said: "To-day I desire to define our position toward railway corporations when I say that only as a last resort do we sanction a strike."

In speaking of the growth of the order he said that the membership was over 36,000 and that during the year just ended there had been paid out to widows and orphans and disabled members 1800,000 making a total since the organization of $2,806,169. He thought it impossible to estimate the blessings and benefits derived from the order, and he advised every man within the sound of his voice to endeavor who ever the sacrifice to save a little of his earnings every year if no more than $25. "The possession of property," he said, "brings respect and always adds to the comfort and power of the workingman, besides gaining him the esteem of all good citizens."

After thanking the citizens of Denver, the railway companies and others for their kindness and expressing his appreciation of the work of the officers and members of the last session, Arthur's speech he concluded as follows: "In accordance with the instructions received at the last convention, I have prepared a special message containing such recommendations as in my judgment would tend to promote the welfare of the brotherhood which will be submitted at the proper time. We have come at this time to hold our twenty-sixth annual convention to review the past of the order, and to consider its future. Profiting by the mistakes and failures of the past, and aided by the integrity and loyalty of the members, it shall go on with its good work of ameliorating the condition of its members and protecting all who come within the fields. In all the discussions and differences which may arise among us, I trust that we all shall always hold to a our right of private judgment, and that while we give frank expression of our own thoughts we shall carefully guard against a spirit of dogmatism which would call upon others to square their thoughts and opinions with our own."

No reference was made in the address to either the question of the federation, or the late Burlington strike, to the apparent disappointment of a number of the delegates.

The convention then adjourned till to-morrow morning.

PROBABLY A CANARD.

Another Report of a Gigantic Railway Consolidation Scheme.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A morning paper prints a story to the effect that C. P. Huntington, the Pacific magnate, has succeeded in bringing under one management the Wabash, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Denver, Rio Grande & Western, Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific roads, the whole comprising a mileage of over 37,000 miles. It was in pursuance of this plan that J. C. Stubbs was transferred from the Southern Pacific to the Milwaukee & St. Paul road where he was to practically be the source of the gigantic scheme.

P. D. Armour one of the directors of the Milwaukee & St. Paul says that he has heard nothing of such a scheme, and doesn't believe there is anything in it.

"A PURE WINDY HUMBUG."

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 16.—President Miller, of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul road pronounces the story of the big railway combine as a pure windy humbug.

ANOTHER SIMILAR STORY.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 16.—Private telegrams from Boston received by Wisconsin Central officials, verify the rumor that Frederick A. Pinney, a heavy stockholder and former general manager of that road will succeed William G. Stevens as general manager of the Santa Fe. Both the Baltimore and Ohio and the Santa Fe will use the Wisconsin Central terminals in Chicago. This gives color to the report of a substantial consolidation of the Baltimore & Ohio, Wisconsin Central, Northern Pacific and Santa Fe. Pinney has recently been over all parts of the Santa Fe system on a tour of inspection.

THE PACIFIC RAILROADS.

The Senate Committee Have Arrived in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The senate committee on Pacific railroads consisting of United States Senators Pryce Hawes Platt, Davis, Morgan Turpie and Hearst arrived here on a special train from Ogden to-night. The committee will remain here until Saturday.

OUR PENDLETON BUDGET.

The Umatilla Reservation Will Soon be Taken Up.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 16.—Passenger trains are now running to this city daily over the Oregon & Washington Territory railway. Since the completion of the O. R. & N. branch to Spokane Falls travel on that road has largely increased.

The coal mines south of here promise well as depth is attained, and the proprietors think they have something better than a gold mine.

The appropriation for the Long creek road is being used to good advantage, and the heaviest grades are completed. A four-horse team can take 5000 pounds over any portion of the road.

An effort will be made to establish a tri-weekly mail service between Pendleton and Canyon City.

Word has been received here that the examination of the reservation surveys being made at Washington will be completed in about ten days, when the appraisers will be ordered into the field. There is but little doubt but the lands will be offered for sale by early spring.

THE CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Proceedings of This Body Now in Session at Oregon City.

OREGON CITY, Oct. 16.—The association convened this morning with an increased number of preachers and delegates. After spending half an hour in devotion the association took up the topic "The Church and the Workingman," led by Rev. F. V. Bonninger, of East Portland, followed by H. A. Bates of Puget sound, Rev. A. A. Rogers of Corvallis, Superintendent C. F. Clapp and President J. F. Ellis of Forest Grove. Each speaker agreed, in the main, that the workingman is not without cause for his discontent and frequent uprising, and that the church must take part in the solution of the labor problem. Each speaker agreed that the truest friend the workingman has is the church of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Sunday-school work was discussed by W. F. Rose and Samuel Green, in which it was shown that the Congregational Sunday School and Publishing Society are doing a great work; that new schools are being organized, and that in Washington and Oregon over $8000 will be expended this year by the society.

Rev. Dr. Ellis read an interesting and instructive paper on the topic, "Influence of Polity upon Spiritual Life." He said, we mean by polity ecclesiastical government. By spirituality, divine life. How does polity affect piety? Of the three kinds of polity the free polity alone fosters piety. First, by its denial of all human authority; second, by the organic constitution of the local church; third, by the sympathetic and enforced relation of pastor and people; fourth, by its methods of discipline; fifth, by its constance and utter dependence upon the word and spirit of God.

After spending a few minutes in devotional services the associat on took recess till 1:30. The afternoon and evening sessions were devoted to missions, conducted by the ladies.

S. C. HYDE FOR SENATOR.

Spokane Falls' Solid Republican Delegation a Unit for Him.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wn., Oct. 16.—When the Spokane delegation of nine members marches into the legislative hall at Olympia it will be as a unit for Hon. S. C. Hyde for U. S. senator. Such an agreement was reached last night. Some of the delegation being present at the conference and calling upon Mr. Hyde as the strongest man to be presented by the people of Spokane. The two other representatives, who live in a distant part of the county are understood to be committed to the same course. In conversation with the OREGONIAN correspondent to-night, the members of the delegation stated their position as follows:

We believe that the great section of Eastern Washington of which Spokane Falls is the commercial center, is entitled to one of the United States senators. The wants of that vast area are peculiar to itself and cannot be fully understood by senators from the section west of the Cascades. We have come to the conclusion that Mr. Hyde is the almost unanimous choice of our constituents and can represent the state of Washington with profit to the people and dignity to himself. This action is taken in compliance with the following resolution adopted by the republican county convention:

Resolved, That the senators and representatives of the legislature from Spokane county should exhaust all honorable endeavors to secure the election to the United States senate of that republican from Spokane county who shall be found to possess the most strength in the state; and said senators and representatives are hereby so instructed.

TACOMA'S GOVERNMENT.

The Committee of One Hundred Want to Have the City Charter Amended.

TACOMA, Oct. 16.—The committee of one hundred met to-night, and decided to ask the first legislature of the state of Washington to amend the charter of the city of Tacoma, so as to eliminate the very clauses that most of these men were responsible for. The present charter gives no one man any authority over the chief of police, and the mayor has no more power to suspend an officer of the city than that officer has to suspend the mayor. The men forming the land ring here are the men responsible for this charter. They obtained it on the supposition that Mr. Jacob Weisbach would be re-elected mayor, and they wanted to clip his wings. These men now come forward and form themselves into a committee of one hundred to overace the work of the eight men they forced into the council at an expenditure of large sums of money. They decided to appoint four special committees, one to look after the police, another to look after the fire department, a third to look after license, and a fourth to attend to public works. The latter is the one most needed, as the streets under the management of the present chairman of the street committee, are in a terrible condition, with no present hope of a remedy. At that meeting to-night the mayor was excluded by the authority of A. C. Smith, who was rejected by the people at the polls in 1888 when he ran for mayor. Several members of the committee intimated that the work on public improvements was on a boodle arrangement, and that the street officials were not square.

The trouble between Colonel C. P. Ferry and his wife will, it is said, be adjusted to-morrow.

FROM NORTH YAKIMA.

Steps Being Taken to Open the Indian Reservation to Settlement.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wn., Oct. 16.—Judge W. H. Calkins arrived here this morning, and is holding court here. In attendance on the court, are Judge Lair Hill, of Seattle, John B. Mitchell, jr., of Tacoma, and other attorneys.

Steps are being taken to prepare a bill which will be presented at the opening session of congress for the opening of the Yakima Indian reservation. The great extent of this reservation and the superior quality of the land, together with the fact that so very few of the nation's wards are supported upon it, makes it highly probable that it will be the next reservation opened to settlement.

The sales of real estate still continue brisk and prices continue to ascend. There were several sales made to-day.

A telegram from J. D. McIntyre states that he will break ground for the new waterworks and electric light plant on the 21st of this month. SEATTLE, Oct. 16.—Mayor Moran to-day signed the ordinance for a paid fire department which was passed by the council last Friday. The ordinance goes into effect immediately. The city needed fire boat will cost $40,000, and will be depended upon chiefly to guard the business portion of the town. Notwithstanding the adverse decisions of Receiver Reed and Register Hayden, the filings of scrip in the land office continue, the fifty-ninth being made to-day. FORTY MILLIONS FOR DEFENSES

A Forty-Five Round Prize Fight—Grand Encampment I. O. O. F.—A Singular and Fatal Coincidence—Deliberate Suicide.

SANTA ANA, Cal., Oct. 16.—Mrs. Effie T. Scholl was found in her house at Tustin to-day, frightfully cut on her throat, and her two children, a boy of 5 years and a girl of 3 years, lay near, with their throats cut. She had murdered her children and attempted to kill herself. Hopes are entertained of her recovery. A dull case knife was used. She was divorced from her husband, O. R. Scholl, three years ago, having the possession of the children awarded to her. Recently he entered suit to gain the custody of the children, and this was the cause of the crime.

The throats of the little ones were cut from ear to ear. The children lay side by side on the inside of the bed, dressed, and in the arms of the little girl was a doll, which was matted with the blood from its little owner. The children, aside from the ghastly appearance of the large quantity of blood and the unsightly gashes, bore calm and peaceful looks, and had evidently not suffered before death.

Mrs. Goodwin, the mother of Mrs. Scholl, was interviewed, and stated that she was with her daughter last night, but, aside from being unusually quiet, she did not notice anything unusual in the latter's manner. Mrs. Scholl is still alive, but is suffering great agony. From the statement made to Dr. Howe, who is attending her, it is gleaned that she first put the children asleep by placing a handkerchief over their mouth, saturated with chloroform. It was her intention to thus let them die, but fearing that they might ultimately recover from its effects, she procured a knife and cut their throats. She then took two bottles of acid, and laid down by her children to die, but fearing that she, too, might not be able to fully accomplish her end, she endeavored to cut her throat. Mrs. Scholl has stated many times that she would rather see her children dead than have their father get them.

A letter was found addressed to her mother and sister, asking them to love her memory. "I have known no peace for six long years," says the writer. Reference is made to the suit for the children. "This is the last blow. That cruel thing, calling himself a man, can never have my sweet little ones to bring up in wickedness. I can say that he is evil, wicked, defamed, devilish and a liar. My little ones will be safe in the hands of Jesus. I give up life everlasting that my little ones may gain it."

She also made the statement that she had no desire to live. "Do you believe I will?" she asked. "For I do not want that man to have the satisfaction of seeing me hanged; but I should ever get well I shall make a quicker and surer job of it next time. My little ones didn't suffer, and I am glad of that." She stated that she was willing to go to hell, as she knew she had sent her children to heaven.

JOHN S. BUGBEE.

Brief Resume of the Career of the New District Judge of Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—John S. Bugbee, of this state, who has been appointed United States district judge for the district of Alaska, is here. Speaking of the appointment, he says: "I am as much surprised as any person in the city, not because I did not expect it, but on account of the speed with which the department of justice acceded to my request for the position. I sent in my application Sept. 25, and it was received in Washington October 2d. I received an acknowledgement the 8th instant, and was appointed yesterday. My application was signed by nearly every influential man in the city, without regard to politics, and I suppose that is the reason why it received such ready acknowledgement."

John S. Bugbee was born in Sackville, N. B., in 1840, of American parents. He graduated from the Boston law school in 1862, and at once came to San Francisco, where he has practiced his profession since. He was in partnership with ex-Senator Eugene Casserly for three years, and with the firm of Doyle & Barber for ten years. In 1885, he was appointed assistant city and county attorney, which position he held under John Lord Love until 1887. He will probably leave for his new post by the next steamer.

A "FISHY STORY."

No Credence Placed in Flynn's Railway Project.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Many railroad men here pronounce as exceedingly visionary John Flynn's project of a through line from here to Crescent City, thence to Grant's Pass, and thence to Boise City.

One who has looked into the subject says: "In his endeavor to obtain something definite for his hobby, Flynn has sought to get Colonel Donahue, of the San Francisco & North Pacific railway, into the scheme. He had made all manner of propositions to the colonel without receiving any engagement. A few days ago he came to the city to see Donahue for the third time. The latter was about to set out for a fishing trip along Russian and Eel rivers with his cousin, Peter Donahue, from York, and he invited Flynn to accompany them. He did so, had a good time, left them to continue their trip up Eel river, and returned to this city. He then announced that the colonel was going to help him build the road.

A representative of the Seligmans of New York, who are interested in Colonel Donahue's railroad enterprise, said to-day that Flynn must have got spoiled on his trip to tell such a fishy story.

PACIFIC COAST DEFENSES.

An Appropriation of Forty Millions Recommended by General Miles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—With a view to assist legislation in the matter of defenses for the Pacific coast, General Miles, commanding the department of the Pacific, some time ago requested the Pacific coast congressional delegation to meet him to-day and discuss questions relating to this subject.

General Miles, in a closing exhaustive review of the defenses of the coast, stated that an appropriation of $40,000,000 could be advantageously used in constructing a necessary system.

Congressman Morrow said that some time ago the fortification board had recommended an appropriation of over $100,000,000 in and of private foundries of sufficient capacity to make gun castings, and that $27,000,000 was recommended for this city. Even Switzerland is kicking out anarchists. England is the only European refuge.

General A. B. Campbell, of Ohio, who couldn't be pension commissioner, will be consul to Melbourne.

If spiritualists want to be really mystified let them go to see Hermann. The wizard can discount the greatest medium living.

McKinley and Reed are running a close race for the speakership, so close, indeed, that political prophets hesitate to prophesy.

The maritime convention at Washington is fully organized, with Admiral Franklin as president. The inevitable junket has not been planned yet.

The superior quality of the land on the North Yakima Indian reservation has drawn to it the covetous eyes of the white man, and Lo will have to stand and deliver.

Philadelphia requires the Western Union to pay license fees for its poles and wires in that city. This is a source of considerable revenue that other cities see with envy.

That poor old Chinese grandmother whose heart yearns to clasp to it little Ah Won and little Ah Tai, will have to yearn another year, for they are not going—not this trip.

Some one has blundered on the Burlington & Missouri road, and fifty passengers were injured, some fatally. Only criminal negligence or gross disobedience can have been the cause.

The republicans will have five majority on joint ballot in the Montana legislature if the Silver Bow precinct is thrown out. This is a small majority, but it is enough to elect two United States senators.

Mayor DeLashmutt calls attention to the lack of terminal facilities in this city which were promised by the railroads long ago. By all means, if the facilities are not granted let the city take back its streets.

That deadly beverage Jamaica ginger, has murdered another inoffensive Indian over on the Sound. Prohibitionists, shall the manufacture and sale of this poisonous beverage be permitted to go on?

South Dakota voted for prohibition in her constitution, and now comes news of great suffering on account of a failure of crops from drought. There is such a thing as having too much dryness sometimes.

Dividends amounting to $12,000 in seven months is a pretty good showing for the Morrison street bridge. Perhaps some day the stockholders will get so rich that we may have a penny fare for pedestrians.

Toole was elected governor of Montana by the votes of a few hundred dagoes, who could not write nor even speak English. It seems there is a way to get around that iron bound Australian system of voting, after all.

Some people think they can avoid paying poll taxes. It can only be done when the supervisor don't know where to put his hand on you, as several Scandinavian employes of the North Pacific mill have found out.

It turns out that the new Northern Pacific tariff to Seattle does not include wheat, which must still pay 50 cents per ton more to that place than to Tacoma. So the recent re-joicing was over the shadow of a thing hoped for.

The state grange of California has denounced the single tax theory as an un-American scheme by which the already over-taxed farmer shall pay all the expenses of government. Farmers everywhere are pretty certain to take this view of the case.

The land office decides, in the case of the Oregon indemnity school lands, that claimants under expired pre-emption claims must appear and show cause why their entries should not be canceled. That is, the state's claim is recognized as prima facie, and the burden of proof placed on the entryman.

Railway brakemen in session at St. Paul are cautioned by their vice-grand master to let severely alone the relief schemes that are being pushed forward by several leading railroads. It is certain the spirit of independence is subordinated when men expect others to look out for them in case of accident.

Chauncey Depew thinks Cleveland will be the democratic nominee for president in 1892, though Governor Hill is the ablest statesman in the state of New York. He isn't so sure about Harrison being the republican nominee, and artfully hints that there is a deal of vitality in Blaine yet. There are possibilities of joshcher in such an interview as this.

Sir Julian Pauncefote is already working his courage up to the point of calling upon Secretary Blaine for the purpose of introducing a discussion upon the Canadian fisheries and Behring's sea seal questions. He expects to be able to reach this point in two or three weeks at farthest. The nation, in the meantime, without regard to personal likes or dislikes, is content in the knowledge that there is an American at the head of the state department.

The annual convention of locomotive engineers, now in session at Denver, promises to be temperate and uneventful. The locomotive engineers' association is at the same time the best organized, most powerful and the most moderate, intelligent and reasonable of the trade unions of the country. It is significant that the speakers of the order show no disposition to discuss the mistaken attitude into which it was led in relation to the Burlington strike.

Sullivan is again out of money, the last of the $20,000 gained in the New Orleans fight in July having disappeared down the throats of himself and his companion sports, and as some months must necessarily elapse before he can reasonably expect to draw his first quarter's pay as representative to congress, he is eager for another fight. Are there no Gliokes to dig, no bowels to carry to Brum, that so proud a specimen of manhood as John L. Sullivan, of Boston, must proclaim himself out of money and anxious for a job?

The Italian government declares, in regard to the temporal power of the pope, that he has perfect religious liberty and is only restricted from encroaching upon the sphere of national rights. History, in detailing the cruel force of the church in politics, fully justifies the determination of the Italian government to maintain its position in this matter. The declaration that "Rome forms an integral part of Italy, just as law forms a part of the modern world" may be strained a little as to metaphor, but it admits of no doubt as to the meaning of Prime Minister Crispi, who makes it.

The fact that the negro who shot the McDevitts, father and son, has been suffered to escape, is the strongest impeachment of the efficiency of the police force of Portland that has yet appeared. Such an escape could be due only to the absolute imbecility of police management. The total absence of intelligence and energy at the heart of the police force is an outrage upon public justice and an assurance of immunity to criminals. Gibbs, the murderer, is not only a negro, but a negro of very peculiar appearance, and if our police cannot find a criminal so distinctively marked as Gibbs is, it may be taken as certain that they never can find any malefactor.

Portland City Real Estate Association, West Portland Park Association, City & West Portland Park Motor Comp'y, Home Builders' Association.

The combined strength of the above companies are mutually helping each other. Their united strength is such that they cannot fail. The actual cash invested and in sight is above $300,000. The stock of these companies is held by eighty-seven leading citizens of Portland and New York City; and besides these are three hundred men and women who own lots in West Portland. The Home Builders' Association propose to build fifty houses in West Portland as soon as lumber can be had, and the motor company have let the contract for building their line, and hope to have it running on or before April 1st, giving fares at 5 cents to all who buy lots of either of these companies. You can see that the combined influence of three hundred and eighty-seven men with $300,000 capital, a motor line and an association to build houses and sell them on installments, all means success.

The man who invests in West Portland now takes no chances.

Certain as you plant yourself in this new suburb, so certain will you come out with 100 per cent profit in one year. It will have low fare (5c.), good water, fine views, quick transit, healthfulness unequaled, strong backing, fifty new houses, and lots of push, energy and snap in its management.

The ball is rolling in toward West Portland. Just tell your neighbors that West Portland is getting there.

OTHER OUTLOOK.—DRYING KILNS.—Mr. L. Samuels of the North Pacific Lumber Company has just returned from a trip East, and he has learned the prospects for the lumber trade with Dakota and Wyoming are very fair. The lumber and timber into those regions from Texas is large, but the Mexican lumber received there is found to be poor, and cannot be sold to compete with Oregon lumber. Sales are not receiving a fair deal in the matter in this respect. Mr. Therkelsen went to Chicago to investigate the subject of dry kilns, but has not fully decided yet, but will put up a dry kiln in connection with his Portland mills, at a cost of about $2,000. Before shipping the lumber before shipping, a thorough drying can be made in freight charges.

FROM THE NORTH.—Mr. Arthur Chapman returned yesterday visiting relatives. He has been on an extended trip through Idaho, Coeur d'Alene, Calispel and Spokane Falls, where he has been investigating troubles between the white settlers and Indians, under the directions of the Indian commissioners as greatly in excess of reservation from the government in the matter of their meadow lands.

THE SAILING AGAIN.—The bark Colonna, Captain Allen M. Noyes, sailed at 11 o'clock yesterday morning for Hong Kong. The vessel was crowded with passengers, who regaled their departing director with sweet and appropriate airs, among them the singing of his favorite airs, among them "Beauty's Dream," "The Eagle March," "Beauty's Dream," "Hunter Gallop." While the last selection was being played, the steamer E. N. Cook was backed to the vessel, and amid cheering and auxiety of farewells, the vessel started on her long voyage.

AMONG THE FAIR.—Probably 20,000 strangers visited Portland and attended the exposition since the time it closed, but this is a small number compared to the thousands who were unable to attend, or who probably would otherwise have been present at such an institution, who will no doubt be gratified with its attentions and magnificent accompanied with its attentions and magnificent souvenir number of the West Shore, which will be issued Saturday. This number will contain many colored and black and white engravings of the fair, and will advertise Portland to the world as it deserves.

ON THE A. AND S. C. RAILWAY.—Yesterday morning the steamer Willamette Chief started down the river with a big barge in tow carrying the first cargo of the Astoria & South Coast Railway. In order that the train down as fast as possible, the engineer has decided that two cars is enough to bring across the continent on two cars is enough to bring before putting it aboard the barge. The weather has been very favorable for track laying, and the work is being pushed as fast as possible, so that it will be ready when the locomotive will soon make its old story to the people of Astoria.

A FELLOW ENTHUSED.—Laborers while excavating for a sewer yesterday at Tenth and M streets found the skeleton of a man about two feet beneath the surface of the ground. The remains were the surface of the ground. The remains were buried without a coffin, and fragments of the clothing of a brown color and striped were found with the bones. There used to be a notorious character in this vicinity of a half-breed Indian named Jim Hall, who was killed there and his body buried in the same locality that the man whose remains were found was killed there and his body buried in the same locality that the man whose remains were found was killed there and his body buried in the same locality that the man whose remains were found

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, OCT. 17.

JUDGE SAWYER'S OPINION

THE OREGONIAN is in receipt of a pamphlet copy of the opinion of Judge Sawyer, of the United States court at San Francisco in the case of David Neagle, the deputy United States marshal who killed Judge Terry when he assaulted Judge Field, of the United States supreme court, and who was released from custody of the state authorities by the Federal court on the ground that the homicide was committed in discharge of his duty. Neagle was arrested on a charge of felonious homicide, upon a warrant issued by a California justice of the peace. Neagle sued out a writ of habeas corpus to the United States circuit court, alleging that he was illegally restrained of his liberty, since the killing of Terry was a lawful act, performed in discharge of his official duty

The question to be considered by Judge Sawyer was whether the homicide was lawfully committed by Neagle while in the discharge of his duty as a deputy marshal If it was, he was entitled to be released If it was not, he must be remanded to the custody of the state authorities. On this point Judge Sawyer said

The homicide in question, if an offense at all, is an offense under the laws of the state of California, and only the state can deal with it as such or in that aspect. It is not claimed to be an offense under the laws of the United States But if the killing of Terry by Neagle was an act done in pursuance of a law of the United States, within the powers of the national government, then it is not and it cannot be an offense against the state of California, no matter what the statute of the state may be, the laws of the United States being the supreme law of the land.

Judge Sawyer holds that it is the implied duty of marshals and deputy marshals to preserve the peace; that "in matters of public peace in which the national government is concerned the marshals and deputy marshals within the scope of their authority are national peace officers, with all the statutory and common law powers appertaining to peace officers." It is as much the implied duty of a marshal to protect the judge from assassination out of court when on his way from one court to another in discharge of his official duty, as it is his implied duty to protect him from assassination in open court without specific order or command. Judge Sawyer holds that if the marshal could legally defend the judge in court the same implied right on his part exists in the case of an assault out of court Both rights are implied in the authority of the marshal to preserve the peace. Judge Sawyer, in support of this view cited the case of the State of Tennessee against Davis, a deputy collector of internal revenue who, indicted in the state court for murder, filed a petition for the removal of the prosecution into the circuit court of the United States alleging that no murder had been committed, but that the killing was done in self defense while he was engaged in discharge of his official duty The questions in this case, on which it came before the United States supreme court were first, "whether an indictment of an internal revenue officer for murder, found in a state court, was removable into the circuit court of the United States, when the killing was claimed to have been done in the lawful discharge of the officer's duty, second whether, if removable from the state court there was any mode of procedure in the trial prescribed by the acts of congress, and third whether if no such mode was prescribed, a trial of the guilt or innocence of the accused could be had in the circuit court."

The supreme court decided that the indictment could be reversed, and that the defendant could properly be tried by the United States circuit court This decision settled that officers of the United States were not amenable to prosecution in a state court for an alleged offense against the laws of the state, when their action was performed in execution of their duty under the authority of federal law

Judge Sawyer holds that the implied duties of a United States marshal, outside of those specifically prescribed in the statute are found in the powers and duties of sheriffs at common law He refers to section 788 of the revised statutes, in which it is provided that the marshals and their deputies shall have, in each state the same powers in executing the laws of the United States as the sheriffs and their deputies in such state may have by laws in executing the laws thereof Section 817 of the penal code of California declares the sheriff to be a peace officer, and section 4176 of the political code of that state makes it his duty to preserve the peace and to prevent and suppress breaches of the peace Under this legislation it is held that an assault upon a Federal judge on account of his judicial decisions, is a breach of the peace affecting the authority and interests of the United States, which it is within the jurisdiction and power of the marshal or his deputies to prevent if possible Such an assault is declared to be not merely an assault upon the person of the judge as a man but an assault upon the national judiciary which he represents, and upon the authority of the nation itself.

Judge Sawyer concludes by saying that a review of the facts of the homicide had convinced the court that the act of Deputy Marshal Neagle was clearly justifiable and lawful, and ordered his discharge from the custody of the state authorities This decision amounted to an acquittal of Neagle of the charge of murder without the intervention of any jury at all Federal or state If Neagle's action had been decided by the court to be a crime, he would have been remanded to the custody of the state, but since the United States court decided that Neagle had no more committed a crime than if he had acted officially as the hangman of a pirate sentenced by a Federal court, Neagle was set free Under the law therefore, as enunciated by Judge Sawyer, if a Federal court decides that a homicide committed by a United States marshal or one of his deputies is both rightfully committed in the lawful execution of his official duty this decision frees the marshal without further proceedings in the shape of a jury trial before any court

A HIGH-TOned FARCE

Every day for nearly two months Chicago has witnessed and presented to the world through the reports of its new gatherers a pretended attempt in the interest of justice to secure a jury in the Cronin case and a jury has not yet been secured In point of fact the efforts have been merely an element on the part of high-priced lawyers to defeat the ends of justice by making it impossible to combine the prejudices and honesty in a jury before whom the important events to be tried. In this an enormous effort thousands of dollars have been squandered from the county treasury and hundreds of intelligent citizens have been taken from their homes or business to be broad-eaten and nauseated by unscrupulous counsel employed for that purpose and dismissed because they would not do "

Of course an intelligent public is not to be deceived by this pretended quest of justice Everybody knows that in the number of citizens summoned, not twelve men merely but a hundred have responded who are well qualified, mentally and morally to pass upon this case and render a verdict upon the evidence unbiased by personal opinion There can be but one conclusion in the open face of this fact and these proceedings, and that is that justice is not what the defendants through their counsel, seek

The jury system that permits and encourages proceedings of this kind is little better than a high priced farce for which the public, though disgusted and unwilling spectators have to pay. Lawyers have fees to earn, and in employing such methods as the system under which they work permits, they are probably no worse than other men, but it is clear that they have grown too clever at this business to admit of justice being done through the present possibilities of the jury system, when the criminal, however dastardly the crime of which he is indicted has plenty of money to back his plea of "not guilty" It is plain that a system that offers opportunity to professional men, to earn enormous fees, through defeating the plain intent of justice is maintained at a cost which public dignity safety and decency can ill afford to pay.

THE TEMPORAL POWER OF THE POPE

Prime Minister Crispi in his speech at Rome on the 15th inst, distinctly announced the purpose of the government to resist all attempts to undermine the Italian constitution by reviving the temporal power of the pope over Rome Minister Crispi does not overstate the situation The extinction of the temporal power of the pope in 1870 when Victor Emanuel occupied Rome was a logical necessity of the doctrine of Italian unity of the doctrine of the separation of church and state, upon which the Italian constitution rests This Italian constitution was framed in accordance with the principles of profound and liberal statesmanship instilled for many years into the breast of Victor Emanuel by his great Minister Cavour Cavour died in 1863, but his royal pupil religiously executed the great teacher's designs when he completed the unity of Italy by extinguishing the temporal power of the pope The temporal power of the pope died by the hand of a Catholic king, who did not hesitate when he visited Scotland to rebuke those who hastened to congratulate him on his opposition to the Holy See, by saying that he "was descended from a long line of Catholic princes, and was the sovereign of subjects almost entirely Catholic and that he could not therefore accept with satisfaction words of reprobation injurious to the head of the church to which he belonged;" and Cavour himself, if not a devout Catholic, was a sincere and orthodox Christian But King Victor agreed with Cavour that the separation of church and state must be made the corner stone of United Italy, and after that the abolition of the temporal power of the pope logically followed, as incompatable with the liberal constitution that was framed for the new kingdom Minister Crispi therefore argued in his assertion that any political party, espousing the temporal power theory stands in the attitude of direct and complete negation of the actual existence of Italy as a nation and a state As a statesman Cavour advocated the extinction of the temporal power of the pope, and King Victor, without repudiating his religion, could accept it

There is no authoritative text no decree of a council, no decision promulgated ex cathedra that affirms the temporal power as a dogma of the church and at the last council of the Vatican a majority, under the lead of Bishop Dupanloup of France, out voted the attempt of the ultra montanists to make an article of faith of the temporal power Nevertheless, a large number of Catholics maintain this belief, which is instilled into them by their pastors In France it is taught in all the seminaries, and the bishops oblige their priests to enforce on their congregations that the maintenance of the temporal power is a positive article of faith, a dogma of the church The ecclesiastics of the Roman Catholic church in America also teach their flocks that Victor Emanuel outraged the religion which he professed when he made Rome an integral part of Italy, made her part of the spoils of the victory of law and right over superstition, of civic freedom over ecclesiastical tyranny

The temporal power of the pope is irrevocably lost for it can only return when United Italy ceases to endure as a nation and a state In 1871 Bismarck, who if he could, would have preserved the temporal power of the pope, opposed the application of the principles of Cavour in shape of the "law of guarantees," but when Emperor William recently visited Rome and the Vatican he kept strictly and exactly within the formula laid down diplomatically by this "law of guarantees," and thus accepted as irrevocable the victory of Cavour' papal policy over that of Bismarck. To expect to re-materialize the gibbering phantom of the pope's temporal power, which continues to talk after it has ceased to walk is to assume an apocatastasis that will never take place Revolutions never walk backwards, and the Franco-Italian war, by forcing the withdrawal of the French garrison from Rome and opening its gates to Victor Emanuel, legislated the pope's temporal power out of all earthly existence It is only its mournful ghost that continues to wail from Rome into the indifferent ears of the world

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

The committee on marriage and divorce is to submit to the general convention of the Episcopalians now sitting in New York city, revised canon on this subject Marriage within the Levitical degrees of consanguinity and affinity clandestine marriages, the marriage of any person under eighteen years unless in the presence of or with the written consent of the parent or guardian, are forbidden by the canon Marriage is made indissoluable except for adultery and the guilty party to a divorce for adultery is prohibited from marrying again during the lifetime of the other party Persons divorced are forbidden to marry each other again if meanwhile the woman shall have married again A minister is forbidden to solemnize a marriage except in the presence of at least two witnesses, himself or the witnesses being personally acquainted with both contracting parties Ministers are required to keep an official register of marriages recording the name, birthplace, age residence and condition of each party, the record to be signed by the parties and at least two witnesses as to the marriage, and by the officiating clergyman The penalty for violating the provisions in case of the minister is subjection to trial and admonition for the first offence and to suspension or deposition for a repetition In the case of the parties to the marriage the penalty is deprivation of the communion, except upon penitence and after avowed final separation The only criticism to be made on this canon is that the details of the law with a fair sense of moral equity and humanity than the church in the line of free divorce for minor causes as beside adultery Adultery is unquestionably a good ground for divorce but is not the only good reason that can be pleaded for dissolving the marriage bond Gross intemperance if due to support desertion and abusive violent language and treatment tending to produce cruelty are denied by sound jurists and the best thinkers on social science proper grounds for divorce Yet the Catholic church teaches good doctrine and treats the victims of divorced persons as more cruelly than in New York adultery is the only plea legally accepted for divorce New Orleans in no state in this Union are there more divorced people than in New York If they wish to be divorced they either really commit adultery or pretend to have committed it by letting the petitioner win by their default If they do not care to procure a divorce in this way they go to some state with free divorce laws and execute their purpose, and this divorce, which would not be granted in New York, holds good in New York, just as a marriage that could not be legally solemnized in New York is valid in New York after it has been executed by crossing the line into Connecticut In South Carolina, where there is no divorce granted even for adultery, social morals are no better than in states of free divorce, and in New York state where no divorce is granted save for adultery, social morals are not better than under the comparatively free divorce laws of New England and the West "Free marriages" work more mischief than free divorces, for divorces are but the irredeemable ultimate of bad marriages Those whom God has joined together never want to be put asunder, but those whom God has not joined together are certainly not worse, and not seldom are better when they are put asunder. In case of a good woman deceived into a bad marriage with a worthless man who either becomes unexpectedly a chronic drunkard, or basely deserts his faithful wife, leaving her with his children to support unaided for several years, it does seem as if divorce was not only humanity but justice In Catholic countries where no divorce is granted save for adultery, the social morals, measured by the prevalence of marital infidelity and general unchastity, are worse (save in Ireland) than in England or the United States, or any land of free divorce So it does not seem that our American drift towards free divorce means increased immorality but increased humanity and justice to women

PUGET SOUND TIDE LANDS.

The decision of the register and receiver of the Seattle land office to reject the application to scrip the tide lands on the water fronts of Tacoma and Seattle seems to be sound law as well as good common sense The decision is two fold as the enterprise it defeats was double By far the most important ruling is that which rejects the filing of Valentine scrip in Tacoma This was the most formidable of all the attempts to grab the Sound tide lands Valentine scrip is the most powerful engine an enterprising land grabber can employ since the law authorizing is issue empowers the holder to enter upon and take possession of any public lands whose title remains in the United States The only qualification of the dangerous power given to this scrip by statute is the decision of the supreme court in the famous Chicago lake front cases that it can not be used to enter land within the limits of an incorporated city This decision was reached after a most exhaustive trial of a very important case, involving land worth many millions of dollars In all subsequent cases the Chicago decision has been recognized as a ruling precedent and no serious attempt has been made to reverse or overturn it This precedent is exactly applicable to the Tacoma case and there is no doubt that the decision of the local land officers will be approved by the department and sustained by the courts

The rejection of the application to file McKee scrip upon tide lands in Seattle might have been made on precisely the same ground by straining the Chicago lake front decision ever so little This was not necessary however McKee scrip is less potent than Valentine It can only be filed on public lands vacant, unoccupied and unimproved The Seattle tide lands are very much occupied, and this afforded ample ground for rejecting the filing This decision, if not reversed by the department, will narrow the claims for possession of tide lands in the territory to the owners of adjacent lands and the squatters Under the recent decision of Secretary Noble that these lands are public lands until the territory is admitted and that title then passes to the state the squatter would seem to have rather the best of it His title of possession capable of being completed at any time by formal entry and established while the lands belonged to the United States would certainly have to be extinguished before the state can convey title to any other possessor The title of the littoral claimants will be easier to secure or dispose of The entire question will assume a new aspect when the admission of Washington is completed and the state succeeds the nation as the original custodian and proprietor of these lands Not the least satisfactory solution of it would be their permanent retention as the property of the state, which might improve and hold them for the equal use of all ships and shippers at a nominal charge or lease them to wharfage companies under conditions and regulations which would forever prevent anything like a monopoly, or unequal or excessive exactions from commerce

TWO THEORIES

A democratic journal before us contains an article on the contest between the political theories of Hamilton and those of Jefferson, during the lifetime of those eminent men and since their day, and presents these conclusions

Hamilton was defeated in his theory of government His ideas did not prevail Jefferson's theory did prevail The orators and writers thereafter, who are so fond of magnifying the influence that Hamilton exerted and of belittling Jefferson must do so with a recklessness of truth which is simply amazing To maintain that Calhoun's theory of government and not Jackson's had triumphed as the result of the conflict over secession would be doing no greater violence to the truth

All this is particularly absurd Hamilton's theory did not indeed prevail in his own day but it gained the ascendant afterwards and prevails now Jefferson's theory had great currency for a long period, but it led to secession and a civil war was beaten in the struggle and never can obtain credit again The great rebellion was the direct and necessary result of Jefferson's theory Washington as well as Hamilton foresaw the danger and warned the country of it. In a powerful letter to Patrick Henry Washington denounced Jefferson's theory of the relations of the states and national government as set forth in the mischievous Kentucky resolutions of 1789 Jefferson wrote the resolutions as an exposition of his theory of government, and they were used by the disunionists to the sole and sufficient warrant for the course they pursued from 1860 to 1865 Is the questioned or damned? Jefferson Davis in his Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government says that "the great truth announced in the series of resolutions was the corner stone of the political edifice of which Jefferson was the architect" and that truth upon this truth the Confederate States only attempted to carry out in practice the theory of government under which to sign the democratic party had conquered in the year 1800 and to which it had adhered for thirty-six years

The reason that it was Calhoun's theory of government that led to secession is as absurd as unhistorical the Calhoun theory was merely the Jefferson theory and that theory went down at Appomattox Hamilton's theory that prevails now holds the country together and makes a nation

The interoceanic canal bill story about railroad consolidation credits C P Huntington with the successful consummation of a scheme to bring the Wabash, Milwaukee, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and several other systems aggregating 27,000 miles under one management and control The president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road hitherto character is the story as pure windy humbug The story might have been rejected without this exhibition denial It is opposed to reasonable probabilities as is every similar story of a vast and far reaching railroad consolidation, southwest or northwest There are physical limits to the healthy growth of railroad systems and to the possibility of repeated and cumulative consolidations Nearly every one of the railroad companies mentioned has about reached this limit Nearly every one has about as many miles of road under its control as can be conveniently and economically managed in one system Thus in as true of the half dozen Mississippi valley roads, which runner has been so busy amalgamating of late as it is of those affecting the Huntington story Both the Manitoba and the Burlington, for example, have all the mileage present and prospective that it is wise to undertake to manage in a single system The lately developed plan for consolidating the fragments of the Manitoba system into a single corporation is probably not what appears on the surface—a financial device to facilitate carrying indebtedness and keeping books It is most unlikely that it foreshadows the amalgamation of the Manitoba with any other great system In general, nine out of ten stories of the kind may be uncredited

The natural and praiseworthy aspirations of the people of Idaho for statehood find expression in the columns of the territorial press These aspirations may not be realized at the coming session of congress, but the steady pressure of public sentiment behind them must sooner or later make itself felt. The rapid growth of Idaho in population and wealth, and the progressive diversification of her industries will soon fit her to take equal rank with the newly created states on either side of her The development of the mining interest in Northern Idaho is nearly paralleled by the prosperous extension of agricultural and grazing interests in the south There is a great deal more growth in Idaho than anybody realizes scattered as it is in fertile valleys and ore-bearing mountains. If Idaho, with the same population wealth and resources had a few thousand of her people concentrated into a city like Helena or Spokane Falls, she would receive more consideration ab ovo and her appeal for statehood might be sooner granted

The Chicago Herald declares that the colored people, North or South, will never amount to much, in a political sense, until they make their aspirations felt at the ballot-box and advises them to "stop complaining and go to voting" This is wholesome advice, but there are difficulties in the way of acting upon it that the negro in the South has found insurmountable It may be a generous thing to point a pistol at an unarmed man, urge him to come on, assure him that here lies the road to political power" and taunt him for not eagerly turning his feet thitherward, but the quality of such generosity may at least be doubted As well hand a man hand and foot to him to a tree and then blame him as inefficient and lacking in ambition because he does not obey the order to move on

H D Gregg of Missouri, is a man who has engaged in various occupations more or less honorable and profitable He was for many years private secretary to General Sheridan, afterwards a newspaper man at Omaha more recently a department clerk at Washington and, later still, he has been engaged in holding one end of the halter strap of horses wandering away without the knowledge of their owners The Missouri statute being no respecter of persons and without regard for the man's previous genteel occupations, brutally designated this last employment horse stealing," and the erewhile man of letters" has been sentenced to the penitentiary for five years.

PROSPECTING FOR COAL

Indications of a Rich Coal Deposit Discovered Near Mohawk

Albany Herald

Mr C J Stuart of this city traveling freight and passenger agent of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company, who has been for several years traveling for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company and who has recently been in Albany, tells a good story of his adventures while traveling to and fro on the trains in search of coal Near Missoula they found a seam of coal in formation of varying thickness which they traced for a mile. It was subsequently found burns freely and they brought about a hundred tons down with them

Mr Stuart says that while having no commercially valuable test which can be relied upon to determine the quality of the coal, he is of the opinion that it is a good article for domestic purposes and that the deposit is extensive enough to supply the demand for years to come. Mr Stuart says that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company will soon have a force of men at work opening the mine and that it will be developed to the extent of its capacity. The coal is found in the mountains which skirt the Missoula valley on the north and is said to be of excellent quality.

FARMERS OPPOSE SINGLE TAX.

Resolutions Adopted at the Recent Meeting of the State Grange of California.

WHEREAS, Organizations exist, and others are being formed throughout this and other states for the purpose of fostering the scheme of single taxation to derive all the revenue necessary to carry on the national, state, county and municipal governments from land alone; and

WHEREAS, These societies are being organized principally in cities (and presumably by those not owners of land) to create public sentiment in its favor thus hoping ere long to be relieved of contributing their quota of taxes on personal property toward supporting the government they look to for protection for their persons and their property; and

WHEREAS, This scheme of single taxation is of foreign origin, having been imported from Great Britain, where landlordism runs rampant, where the few own the land and the many are landless, it is evident the originating promoter of this scheme was to break up large land holdings in England, Ireland and Scotland and

WHEREAS In this country, where every man owns land or can under our homestead laws, become the owner of land If would seem to be only necessary to state the proposition to render it obnoxious to every right thinking man therefore be it

Resolved That if this scheme should become a law taxes on land would necessarily be increased from 100 to 150 per cent or in other words, farmers who now pay say $100 taxes, would have to pay from $200 to $250, for these and other reasons. Be it further

Resolved That this state grange being the organized head of all subordinate granges, hereby express in the most emphatic manner its utter condemnation of this un American scheme—a scheme that will create in the United States a class of untaxed voters who will have it in their power to build up an aristocratic, or as an exchange a government as they choose so long as the already overtaxed farmer and other landowners pay all expenses.

IDAHO'S EFFORT FOR STATEHOOD.

Governor Shoup, of Idaho, has issued a proclamation declaring an election will be held Tuesday November 5 1889 for the adoption of the proposed state constitution, and recommending the county commissioners in each county to provide for conducting the election according to the constitution The governor urges all citizens to carefully read the constitution and to vote conscientiously for or against its adoption

NEEDED TO PROTECT INDUSTRIES.

Coeur d'Alene Sun The new constitution contains nothing to retard the growth of a young state and it may be considered an excellent instrument of the kind Notwithstanding that it is criticised in some parts of it, Idaho, because it will entail a slight additional expense to maintain a state government, the privilege of securing two United States senators a representative, courts of our own election and total immunity from territorial passages should be sufficient to rid us of this objection. We must expect to pay more for a state government than a territorial one because all the benefits therefrom cover a wider scope We need statehood to protect our industries, and we have a right to demand it Therefore the new constitution ought to be voted for and adopted

MORMON INFLUENCE.

A DISPLAY OF SELFISHNESS.

Boise Statesman In some sections of the territory the owners of large herds of cattle and flocks of sheep are taking an active interest in opposing the admission of the state. They are opposed to statehood on the ground that its tendency will be to increase population make demand for ranches and so curtail the immense stretches of pasturage This is opposition from an unexpected quarter, and a display of selfishness which astonishes us

POLITICAL MAVERICKS.

Wallace Free Press Public sentiment has grown strongly in favor of the constitution since its publication and the movement for the adoption of the constitution is now practically unanimous What opposition it will have will come from unenlightened individuals who are impregnated with Mormon proclivities and they do not belong to either the democratic or republican party They are political mavericks and have but a small following. As it will be necessary for every friend of statehood to come out on election day and cast his ballot It behooves us to have a large vote in Idaho, if we want to go before Congress and demand admission as a small vote would make us ridiculous in the eyes of the nation

NEWS OF THE CITY.

Insane Man Leaps From a Rapidly Moving Train.

SUPERINTENDENT SABIN TALKS

Meeting Held by the Common Council Last Evening.

THE GIBBS MYSTERY UNSOLVED

Portland & Coulee Creek Railway—Dalles Boat Railway—Steel Bridge—Chinese Children—Wheat Rates to Seattle—Senator Frye Coming

Yesterday morning a telegram was received stating a brief account of a man who jumped from a moving train with a little child in his arms while the cars were passing over a trestle on Fourth street in that town No name was given The particulars were very meager The train, a Northern Pacific train which arrived in this city from Seattle about half past 9 o'clock Tuesday evening, were Charles Adams, and his two small children who had come from Seattle over the Canadian Pacific They were en route for Portland

When the train neared Tacoma Mr Adams evidently was seized with a fit of insanity, for without giving a word of warning he seized his small child, not over six months old, and jumped from the rapidly moving train He struck one of the trestles on the trestle bridge, but strange to relate, after a few bruises he escaped uninjured. The child escaped without a scratch.

Mr Ward, the pacifist, and another man seeing the strange action of Adams, jumped to the platform just as the train was moving off Ward almost fell on top of Adams and the other man came tumbling on top of him. Both were scared and bewildered, but had presence of mind enough to stop the train. The train stopped and it took the combined strength of half a dozen men to get Adams back into the car. It required some time before he became sane enough to tell his name, and it became necessary to tie his hands and feet to prevent him from injuring himself or others who were watching him.

Officials who were ordered to take any interest in the matter, it seemed to be remarked in the coach until the train arrived in Portland yesterday morning. The train left Tacoma the conductor telegraphed on ahead to relieve the pressure of business which he was first tied.

Upon the arrival of the train in this city the man and his children were sent to the Merchants' hotel and the latter were soon taken to the city jail Adams' condition became more rational and by noon had mental faculties apparently were in their normal condition. Mrs. Adams expressed a desire to accompany her journey to Tualatin, where she has a son and daughters. In compliance with her request, Officer Emig put the family in a carriage and helped them on board the 3 40 o'clock train which carried them to their new place of residence.

It is also stated that her husband's insanity is caused by worry and loss of sleep. She thought that he was only temporarily affected and expressed the belief that he would be all right as soon as he could be relieved of a little rest.

SECTIONS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Written Examinations No Longer To Be the Sole Basis of Advancement.

Teachers of the public schools have long felt that it was not exactly justice that the results of written examinations, should be made the exclusive basis of a pupil's promotion from one grade to another or from one class to another. The subject has been fully considered by the executive committee, consisting of Miss Lamberson, the city superintendent, and the principals of the several schools and they have formulated a system, which will take effect immediately. The plan manifest the plan to the board at its meeting and, though the directors took no action upon the discussion showed that they were favorably disposed toward it. The subject of examinations will be fully discussed at a teachers' meeting which Miss Sabin has called for October 26, to the Assembly hall of the High school.

THE SYSTEM NOW IN VOGUE.

Before entering upon an explanation of the new system a few words about the present system are in order. At the end of each month the pupil makes up the pupil's percentage based upon his deportment in the written examinations. For example if the pupil has a standing of 75 in arithmetic 80 in geography 90 in mental arithmetic and 100 in history, the percentage would be 86 which is the term's percentage is made up from the pupil's standing in the several studies. A pupil, to be promoted from the grammar grades in the Portland schools 200 per cent. is required, 50 good, 70 fair, 60 poor, 50 per cent. In order to be promoted the pupil's percentage in all studies must not be under 70, and under 60 in any one study.

The principal objection to this system, in the minds of the public heads of promotion said teachers yesterday was that it has a tendency to encourage teacher and pupil to fall into ruts and grooves, and the deeper they are the more satisfied are teacher and pupil With the teacher the study is to cram the child so that he will be able to answer set and specific questions at the examinations. Consequently, teaching not what it should be. The teacher does not endeavor to inspire a broad and inclusive treatment of the subject, which arises from the other hand the pupil does not study to learn only questions expected to be asked by the subject examination is held. Therefore as the child is victorious in that the child is simply not for the pleasure of acquiring knowledge but to be able to answer set questions.

THE NEW SYSTEM.

By the new system The executive committee does not intend to make a radical change right away, with written examinations at a certain time, but the plan is to make the basis of promotion the written examination taken in connection with the teacher's judgment of the pupil's proficiency. Written examinations have their value, educational values, which will be preserved.

The new system will give the teacher a chance to watch the pupil's work in class, and to judge of the pupil's work at the end of the month. The pupil will be marked up this way Excellent (over 90 per cent.) good (over 80), fair (over 70) poor (over 60) poor (over 50) If the written examination should show a monthly percentage of 75 per cent., and the teacher's judgment of the pupil should be 90 per cent., the pupil's percentage would be 80.

It is believed that the new system will improve the standard of teaching said Miss Sabin to a reporter yesterday, because they are as good as the teachers, because they are as good as the best in any city in the country but the new system has not had the right kind of a trial. The new system will depend upon the teachers' responsibility and will be used to study for study's sake and not to be examined at issue fully Cincinnati has been written examinations as the basis of promotion, and all is dependent upon the teacher's judgment of a pupil's proficiency I feel confident that the new system will be successful."

NOTES OF THE EXPOSITION.

The Farmers Seemed To Take Very Little Interest in Their Day.

The Children Will "Run Things" at the Fair Next Saturday — Miscellaneous Notes of Interest.

There was not that general interest taken in Farmers day yesterday that was expected Competition for the prizes offered was not at all lively The awards were as follows For the best exhibit of one dozen Plymouth Rock hens eggs a wildwood ax and crosscut saw, offered by Dayton, Hall & Avery awarded to George O Sloan, of Forest Grove. No other premiums were awarded.

THE MUSIC.

The galleries of Music hall were fully occupied last night and more people than usual were on the floor A judiciously arranged programme was presented The opening number of the second part, The Night Owls, took immensely It was full of suggestions of nights off,' when 'the boys are full of fun if not of something, still more exhilerating This was followed by a soprano solo by Madame Bonnett Good Night My Child which won an encore The madame was presented two beautiful floral tributes by admiring friends In the afternoon Madame Casati sang a contralto solo with great acceptation. A saxophone solo by Mr Louis Kuhel was admirably rendered. Selections from the works of Rossini, Beethoven Pianquette Weber, Suppe and others delighted the audience. Liberati rendered his own composition "Pas seul Festivo" on the cornet with splendid verve. In nothing is he more the maestro than in this magnificent creation of his genius. A fine programme is underlined for to-night. To-morrow night is devoted, as already stated, to Wagner and the classics.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Next Saturday will be Children's Day and beyond question it will form one of the most pleasant episodes of the season. On this day the Sunday school children of Portland and vicinity will give a concert of Sunday school songs, assisted by Liberati's band and the four vocalists. Appropriate prizes will be given to children between one and five appearing at the Exposition on this day J K. Among the interesting articles on exhibition at the Exposition is a half length life-size portrait of the late wife of Rev Jason Lee, one of Oregon's earliest and most highly honored pioneers. By some oversight the name of the person who brought this interesting relic of Pioneers day for exhibition, has been forgotten, as no regular entry was made of it Professor P H Grubbs now residing at No 419 Eighth street, East Portland and his daughter Ethel, who is the grand daughter of Rev Lee's second wife is anxious to become acquainted with the owner of the picture. Miss Grubbs is the sole living descendant of Rev Jason Lee.

The managers and directors of the Exposition hope to have the pleasure of extending hearty welcomes and fraternal greetings to hosts of their neighbors from Vancouver Cascades La Camas and the middle Columbia. GREAT GIFT DISTRIBUTION

Judging from the crowds congregated each night at the exhibits of Stever & Walker to get their tickets for the great gift distribution there is evidently no flagging of interest in this part of the exposition. For the benefit of those who have not already procured tickets it might be stated that the list of prizes is a large one, selected from the many specialties handled by Stever & Walker and includes an elegant Studebaker road cart a set of fine single buggy harness, a set of sleigh runner attachments, dusters and whips taken from their vehicle department, while from their watch ney department there has been selected one of their celebrated Lisle filled clocks large school bell, Myers force and lift pump lawn mower hand seeder, etc etc. The tickets themselves contain a full list of the prizes and the details of the drawing, and these tickets will be given free to all persons calling at the machinery hall or Stever & Walker, and registering their names in the book provided for the purpose A list of the prize winners will appear in the Sunday Oregonian of October 27th.

It may be mentioned that Stever & Walker were the originators in the Northwest of the system of their novel advertising gift enterprises, having two years ago donated a splendidly finished Studebaker farm wagon which wagons by the way, are conceded to be the strongest and most durable and lightest running in the world. Last year they gave an elegantly finished Studebaker top buggy, the Studebaker buggies being the most stylish best built and finished vehicle in the market, while this year they have selected a list of thirty six prizes from their specialties.

It is to be noted that all prize tickets will be issued to the number of machinery and vehicles made by Stever & Walker which showing, in a style arrangement splendid appointments and extent and variety of goods exhibited, has never been equaled in their line on the Pacific coast.

FAIRBANK'S GOLD DUST

The exhibit of Fairbank's Gold Dust is attracting very general interest the fair and especially is the interest felt among the ladies W N Dimmick the Western agent for this preparation gives away at his booth sample packages of the dust for the purpose of giving people an opportunity of judging of the merits of the article. The wonderful rapidity with which it has found its way into public favor possesses volumes for its intrinsic worth as a cleansing agent One year ago this destroyer of dirt was first brought to public notice and by the practical results which were invariably brought about by its use it at once sprang into popular favor and to-day is generally acknowledged to be the most effective wash manufactured and is consequently considered well to go indispensable to the comfort and convenience of every housekeeper Fairbank's Gold Dust is the latest discovery in washing powder it is essentially a dirt destroyer The two principal feats which should be particularly noted in connection with its use are first the saving of time, labor, and money effected by its use and secondly the exceedingly low price at which it may be purchased, either in bulk or in small quantities This last is accomplishable for from the fact that the cost of manufacturing is reduced by about one-half the amount expended in the manufacture of wash powder All grocers of standing carry Gold Dust, consequently the latest novelty in washing powder is exceedingly handy to obtain To solve in your mind the question of what constitutes Gold Dust is unnecessary for the latest and most economical chemists have failed in the world Each should write the both of W N Dimmick and get a sample of this wonderful preparation

RIGHT FEED LUBRICATOR

There is no lubricator in the world that is so effective as the Wilson Powell Sight Feed manufactured only by A L Wright whose headquarters for the Pacific Northwest are located on the front floor on street in this city This feed is automatic in its working, can be adjusted to any piece of machinery and not only effects a saving of at least 50 per cent in the use of oil over any other lubricator in the world but at the same time the grease stops rising in the rear of any machine you to which it is applied A special feature of this lubricator is that it is adapted to the use of either fallen or coal oil It has been in constant use on this coast for the past two years and during that time it has never failed to give satisfaction Call on A L Wright with his usual cheerfulness makes an especially pleasing line of business and is backed by hundreds now in the city as a guarantee that for any kind of machinery where an active and healthful lubricant is required, there is no equipment among the best equipped the attention of every farmer in the Northwest is especially called to the Wilson Powell Sight Feed Lubricator manufactured by Mr Wright which of so many machines of the kind in the world. It does the work of lots time, and the great saving of labor together with its simplicity and ease of operation, will at once commend it to every practical farmer in the country

THE TWO TRICK DONKEYS.

Directly after Sig Liberati's first part of the concert last evening, Gerard Leon the great European clown, came forth in the floral hall with his two comical, well educated donkeys, Jack and Jill They severally lope her on a plank fire guns and stand on high pedestals. They created a great laugh when one of the donkeys grabbed Professor Leon by the hair of the head and walked him to the The professor claims that one of the donkeys stupider but the audience crowds too near him This attraction creates perfect roars of laughter and is a strong card for the exposition

LOWNSDALE WHEELER & CO.

Those visitors who frequently pass the booth of Lownsdale Wheeler & Co will notice that the arrangement of the display is changed and that different books are put on exhibition from time to time By although everything is done that could possibly serve to show what there is to be seen in the immense stock of books and stationery at 105 First street it is impossible for the firm to give a thoroughly comprehensive idea of their stock in the small space allotted to them at the fair

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS.

There is no manufacturing establishment in all the Northwestern portion of America whose output of doors sash blinds and mouldings and all kinds of frames, is so large as that of J C Carson The business was established in 1857 and has had a continuous and steady growth until it has reached its present proportions. The factory and salesrooms are on the corner of North Front and S streets. Sightseers will find this an interesting place to visit.

FAIR NOTES.

Dekum Bros have added to their already complete exhibit at the fair a very fine line of brass fenders coal vases, fire sets, umbrella stands etc which are worthy of the attention of all visitors. Their large store on Second, near Washington, with an entrance also on the latter street, is the most complete stove establishment in the city

The Hardman piano although its reputation is already worldwide, has become the general favorite at the fair The lovely music produced nightly upon this fine instrument by Miss LeKamp furnishes a most interesting feature of the grand exhibition Mr W T Shanahan, the general agent for the Hardman, certainly deserves success for making so fine an exhibit. Call on him at 198 Third street the Abington building

EAST PORTLAND JOTTINGS.

A Gratifying Showing for the First Month of School.

A Horse Breaks Through a Roadway—How the Imprisoned Salvationists Pass Their Time—An Old Soldier Dead.

The schools in East Portland, district 21 closed the first month of the school year Friday October 11 with gratifying results. As shown below the enrollment for the initial month is 1128, which is more than 300 larger than the attendance for the first month last year and about 150 larger than the enrollment for the last month of last year

This is a splendid showing, and indicates the growth of the city The reputation of the schools has drawn in a large number from the outside who desire to enjoy the superior advantages of the schools even if they have to pay the tuition justly required of them. Superintendent Wetzell constantly visits the various rooms and by personal attentions and effort seeks to inspire enthusiasm and thoroughness in all the departments

Following is the report for the month ending October 11 1889 and other interesting points

W A WETZELL, Superintendent.

There are twenty six teachers regularly employed in the six schools of this district

The non resident pupils now enrolled in the schools of this district number about seventy five If accommodations could be provided the enrollment would almost double in the next month Applications are made daily by non residents for admission.

All of the surrounding school districts are well represented at the opening this year There are students from Southern Oregon Hood river Fairview Gresham Mt Tabor, Sellwood Albina and other places

At the last meeting of the board of directors the following rates of tuition for non resident pupils were agreed upon For primary grades $1 per month for grammar grades $1 50 per month for the high school $2 per month

There are 231 little ones in the three first grades of this district, distributed as follows At the North Central 94 at the Central 72 at the Stephens 67 This enrollment in these grades is greatly in excess of that of any previous year

The best per cent. of attendance at the Central was made by the seventh grade—Miss Owen, teacher Ninety nine per cent. of her pupils were present daily. Miss Campbell's third grade made the highest per cent in the Stephens—98.4. At the North Central Miss Alford's pupils made the best record in attendance—98.8.

During the month just closed there were four cases of tardiness by teachers Two of these occurred in the Central and were made by one teacher Two of the teachers of the Stephens school failed to get in on time

Seats have been added to some rooms until there is no longer room for the teacher's stand. That more room will have to be provided next year is a settled fact The greatest increase is observed in the northern part of the district Two rooms can be added on the north side of the North Central, which will make it an eight room building

All departments of the schools have made most excellent beginnings There has been no time in the history of the schools of this city when the outlook was more encouraging.

The city superintendent has arranged to hold two teachers meeting each month The first will be a grade meeting, and will be held the second Friday of each month in the afternoon The regular teachers meeting will be held the last Friday of each month

Mrs C S Hooper who has been employed to assist in the High school is giving good satisfaction The old or new teachers Miss Browne, Miss Donahue and Miss Gove are taking hold of the work with commendable earnestness. Miss Charleson the new superintendent promises to be an excellent addition to the corps of teachers.

The High school starts out under most favorable circumstances. Professor Robinson is well pleased with the outlook. There are over forty enrolled at present Next year two rooms will be required to accommodate this department The old Portland High school is no longer an experiment It ranks to-day as a most efficient educational factor Its members are receiving such a thorough training as is given to young people anywhere. The only aim of this school is to give a thorough, practical English education

WHERE IS THE CHILD?

Those who attended the preliminary examination of James F Berry at Justice Mayo's court on a charge of bigamy were greatly filled at the result in the circuit court in the course of his examination it came out that Berry had sent Pearl for a little girl about 11 years old, and who had just arrived Berry stated that the child is adopted, but she had always regarded him (Berry) as her father and did not learn differently until she came to East Portland The child resembled Berry very much, and not a few believe she is Berry's daughter although Berry stated he was simply raising her A good many would like to know who has become of the little girl As she was last seen in the justice court she was a sweet faced innocent little miss of seven years She went out to the wharf when she was placed on the witness stand
